13 Contingent asset

The company has obtained a judgement in Greece against a debtor who owed £128,093 at the year end. The Greek courts have ordered the customer to dispose of certain property assets in Greece in order to pay the debt and associated legal fees incurred by Navfleet in pursuing the debt. However no funds have been received, and due to the economic conditions in Greece the directors consider it remote that any funds will be received.

Therefore the debt has been fully provided against in the accounts and no contingent asset has been recognised, in respect of costs recoverable from the customer.

14 Control

The controlling party is R.C.S. Millard by virtue of his majority interest in the share capital of the company.
